NEW YORK, Jan. 23, 2017 /PRNewswire/ -- Voya Financial, Inc. (NYSE: VOYA), announced today that it has been recognized in the 2017 Bloomberg Financial Services Gender-Equality Index (BFGEI) for its strong commitment to gender parity. Voya was recognized as a leader among its peers in the 2017 index, which includes only 52 firms across Europe, the Middle East and Africa (EMEA), Asia Pacific (APAC) and the Americas.

□

The BFGEI arms managers and investors with more comparative information across the gender-equality space. The index encourages disclosure, provides greater market transparency and raises awareness of gender-related issues. Voya's presence in the index showcases its commitment to creating an environment of inclusion and, alongside its peers recognized in the BFGEI, its commitment to better understanding the gender-equality issues that customers, colleagues and communities face.

To be included in the BFGEI, companies must have dedicated social disclosure policies and practices. The index is scored via a social survey developed by Bloomberg in partnership with third-party experts including, Women's World Banking, Catalyst and Working Mother Media. Companies included in this year's index scored at or above the global threshold established by Bloomberg to reflect disclosure and the achievement or adoption of best-in-class statistics and policies.
