Caesars Entertainment reports that 99% of women at the company's corporate headquarters and 98% of women who work in non-union roles at the company's domestic properties had no meaningful differences in average pay when compared to men in the same positions.

Results released as part of Caesars Entertainment's "Gender Equity Initiative" launched in 2017, in partnership with Billie Jean King and the Billie Jean King Leadership Initiative (BJKLI)

Caesars Commits to Reach 100% Pay Equity

LAS VEGAS, Sept. 6, 2018 /PRNewswire/ -- Caesars Entertainment Corporation (NASDAQ: CZR), the world's most diversified gaming and entertainment company, today announced that the company found no meaningful differences in the average pay of men and women in almost all jobs. Together with Billie Jean King, sports icon and equal rights champion, Caesars Entertainment committed to work to close the gap and achieve 100% parity in pay for men and women.

Caesars reviewed 2016 pay data for approximately 32,200 non-union employees from corporate headquarters and 40 properties. Ninety nine percent of women at the company's corporate headquarters and 98% of women at the company's 40 properties are in jobs with no meaningful differences between the average pay of men and women, after accounting for neutral factors. A follow-up study using 2018 pay data shows that Caesars is already moving toward 100 percent pay equity in all jobs. Union employees were not included in the study because Caesars is obligated to pay unionized workers established compensation rates under the terms set forth in collective bargaining agreements with the union that dictate the wages paid to all union members.

"The numbers from our internal study confirm that Caesars Entertainment is a progressive workplace that values all employees and promotes an open and inclusive culture," said Mark Frissora, President and Chief Executive Officer. "While I'm extremely proud of what we've accomplished, there is still more work to be done, and I remain committed to taking the necessary steps to ensure that we reach 100% pay equity."

"On the 50th anniversary of the 'open era' in tennis when the Grand Slam tournaments first allowed all players the opportunity to make a living by playing tennis, I could not be prouder to be joined at the US Open by corporate leaders from Caesars Entertainment who are committed to creating equal and inclusive workplaces," said Billie Jean King. "As a long-time champion of equal pay for equal work, seeing more companies, like Caesars Entertainment, joining in the movement is strong proof that things are improving and progressing."

The Company has pledged to conduct a review of pay equity on a regular basis. This reflects the Company's greater commitment to ensure equity for all employees and its progress toward the goal to reach 100% pay equity across all levels.

In 2017 Caesars Entertainment partnered with equal rights champion Billie Jean King and her organization, the Billie Jean King Leadership Initiative (BJKLI) to launch the Gender Equity Initiative – a program created to increase representation of women in leadership roles and above at Caesars Entertainment by 2025, and also to enhance equal representation, development, treatment and pay of all employees. Currently, Caesars Entertainment is well on its way to meeting its gender equality goal, with women in the company's U.S. markets holding 43% of manager and above roles at the company.
