"At The Hartford, engaging a diverse and inclusive workforce that mirrors the marketplace and local communities is a business imperative," said The Hartford's Chairman, President and CEO Liam E. McGee. "We want the company to be an inclusive place where people can succeed because of their differences, not in spite of them. Susan's appointment demonstrates The Hartford's sustained commitment to attracting, engaging, and retaining the best talent to deliver greater value for shareholders."

Prior to joining The Hartford, Johnson was vice president of executive succession and diversity strategies at Pitney Bowes. She has held a variety of human resource management positions at Pepsi-Cola and Campbell Soup Company. Johnson's experience also includes participation in local, state and national political campaigns, as well as work on domestic policy and management issues in the public sector.

Johnson is a member of the board of trustees at the Greenwich Country Day School. She is also a regional officer for Jack and Jill of America, Inc. and is an active member of The Links, Inc. She is a graduate of Spelman College and received a Master's degree in Industrial and Labor Relations from Cornell University.
