

CORRECTING and REPLACING PVH Corp. Signs Women's Empowerment Principles Charter of UN Women and the Global Compact of United Nations
Tuesday, March 22, 2016 01:23:00 PM (GMT)

Headline of release dated March 22, 2016 should read: PVH Corp. Signs Women's Empowerment Principles Charter of UN Women and the Global Compact of United Nations (instead of PVH Corp. Signs Women's Empowerment Principles Charter of UN Women and the Global Pact of United Nations).

The corrected release reads:

PVH CORP. SIGNS WOMEN'S EMPOWERMENT PRINCIPLES CHARTER OF UN WOMEN AND THE GLOBAL COMPACT OF UNITED NATIONS

PVH Corp. [NYSE:PVH] announced today that it signed the Women's Empowerment Principles, a partnership initiative of UN Women and the UN Global Compact comprising a set of seven steps that businesses can take to promote gender equality in the workplace such as establishing high-level corporate leadership for gender equality, fighting against any form of discrimination, ensuring education, training and professional development for women.

Businesses are encouraged to use the principles as a guide for actions everyone can take to empower women to participate fully in economic life across all sectors and throughout all levels of economic activity, from the boardroom, to the workplace, and across the supply chain to the communities in which we live and work.

Emanuel Chirico, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of PVH Corp., said, "It is very important to me that PVH leads our industry in creating and maintaining a culture of inclusion where every individual is valued. I am committed to making sure that all associates, regardless of gender, ethnicity, or background, have the opportunity to realize their full potential at PVH and more importantly, embracing inclusion and diversity is integral to our success as an organization."

Mr. Chirico continued, "Gender equality and women's empowerment are important issues. We are determined to strengthen activities and programs to promote gender equality for the betterment of PVH and the experiences and opportunities of our associates."

PVH already has a variety of business-related activities and programs that it has committed to as part of its commitment to promote gender equality and education for women and girls worldwide. Some recent examples include: (i) Addition of Inclusion and Diversity courses as part of its PVH University; (ii) Launched a Business Resource Group for women, Women's Leadership Council; and (iii) PVH's $5 million multi-year commitment to Save the Children to its early education programs as well as our involvement in supporting our factory communities with educational based programming and counseling support for women and children in a safe environment.

About the Women's Empowerment Principles

The Women's Empowerment Principles are a set of Principles for business offering guidance on how to empower women in the workplace, marketplace and community. They are the result of collaboration between the United Nations Entity for Gender Equality and the Empowerment of Women (UN Women) and the United Nations Global Compact (www.weprinciples.org). Subtitled Equality Means Business, the Principles emphasize the business case for corporate action to promote gender equality and women's empowerment and are informed by real-life business practices and input gathered from across the globe. To date, more than 1,100 business leaders from around the globe have signaled their support for the overall goal of advancing and empowering women and, more specifically, the guidance offered by the seven Principles by signing a CEO Statement of Support for the WEPs.
