REDWOOD CITY, Calif., May 17, 2018 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Glint, the people success platform that helps leading organizations increase employee engagement, develop their people, and improve business results, today announced the appointment of Sherry Whiteley, Chief People & Places Officer at Intuit (Nasdaq:INTU) to the Glint Board of Directors. In her role as board member, Whiteley will provide people leadership and innovation expertise as Glint continues its growth trajectory.

"Of all the innovative organizations I've reviewed, Glint emerges as having the potential to truly change lives and careers," said Whiteley. "Glint's product design and real-time insights help companies connect their people to their business results. This is an exciting time for Glint, and I look forward to working with the other directors as the company continues to help organizations transform around people success."

During her 18-year tenure at Intuit, Sherry has helped create a diverse and inclusive environment where innovation flourishes and where people can bring their whole selves to work. Sherry is co-president and board member of the Intuit Foundation and previously served as a board member of the Alzheimer's Association of Northern California and Northern Nevada. Intuit has been named to Fortune's Best Companies to Work For each year since 2002.

"At Glint, building great teams is one of the foundations of our work," said Jim Barnett, CEO of Glint. "We're fortunate to welcome a true people innovator to our Board. Sherry has extensive experience building and leading the global people function and a pioneering commitment to employee well-being and superior execution. Her expertise brings additional depth to our Board and will allow us to continue to strengthen our strategic plan of people-powered success."
