

Highlights of Facebook CEO Mark Zuckerberg's interview with CNN
Thursday, March 22, 2018 05:21:19 AM (GMT)

- Zuckerberg tells CNN:
 - "I'm really sorry that this happened. We have a basic responsibility to protect people's data and if we can't do that then we don't deserve to have the opportunity to serve people."
 - The company will make sure that developers that got access to a lot of data and misused it won't be able to do so again; the company will investigate every app that has access to a large amount of information, and will conduct a full forensic audit on any app for which the company detects any suspicious activity.
 - The company will notify users about apps that do "sketchy things."
 - Trusting Cambridge Analytica was "clearly a mistake in retrospect."
 - Facebook will notify any user whose data might have been affected by the Cambridge Analytica data breach.
 - He is "happy" to testify before Congress if he is the person at Facebook with the most knowledge.
 - Facebook should have done a better job dealing with Russian interference and fake news in the 2016 US election; it improved its operations for the subsequent French election.
 - He is "sure" someone is trying to meddle in the 2018 US elections, and Facebook is seeing "a lot of folks trying to sow division."
 - With regard to regulation: "I actually think the question is more what is the right regulation rather than yes or no should [Facebook] be regulated."

Reference Links:

- CNN

Industries: Computer & Internet Services

Primary Identifiers: FB-US

Related Identifiers: FB-US

Subjects: Articles, Reports, Media Summaries, Other Regulatory, Regulatory

Related Stories:

- Facebook CEO Mark Zuckerberg tells CNN, "I'm not sure we shouldn't be regulated"
- Facebook CEO Mark Zuckerberg "open" to testifying before Congress - Recode